Antarctica (AQ)

ATA Carnets may be used to travel to Antarctica if the customs jurisdiction immediately prior to entering Antarctica is a member of the ATA system. For example, if customs clearance is made through a New Zealand customs checkpoint, the Carnet will be an accepted means of customs clearance. If on the other hand, the goods enter the territorial claim of Argentina, a carnet will not be accepted, as Argentina is not part of the ATA system.

At this time, Brazil accepts ATA Carnets for professional equipment and exhibitions and fairs only. Please be aware that USCIB has set a special security requirement of 60% of the value of the goods listed on the General List for all ATA Carnets intended to enter Brazil. This is 20% higher than the usual 40% security requirement. CarnetsOnline™ will automatically calculate this security requirement for you. If you have any questions please contact your ATA Carnet Help Desk at 1.800.Carnets (1.800.227.6387).

Brazilian Customs

Brazilian Customs offices will handle ATA Carnet customs clearance Monday to Friday, from 8:00 am until 18:00 pm. However, the Confederation of National Industry (CNI), the national guaranteeing association in Brazil, informed the Secretariat that Brazilian Customs are currently on strike. Consequently, their offices will only be open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. CNI will keep us informed of any changes or updates.

In addition under the Conditions for Concession and Temporary Admission (Art. 16) of the Brazilian customs law (1639) the following must be available for customs clearance:

1. Presentation of valid ATA carnet;
2. Presentation of Power of attorney, if applicable;
3. Presentation of passport or proof of identity:
 - a. of the ATA Carnet holder or its nominated person in the authorized representatives box b on the Green Cover of the ATA Carnet; or
 - b. of authorized person by its holder or by its representative via a power of attorney

In addition, we recommend that ATA Carnet holders or their authorized representatives should have available the Brazilian Customs Law (1639) (English version) that covers the ATA Carnet treatment in the event an officer is not fully versed in the this new procedure.

- ATA Carnets are typically limited to six months from the date of entry, even though the ATA Carnet may be valid for one year.
- All vehicles traveling to China on an ATA Carnet requires a minimum 100% security deposit.
- One Set of Blue Transit Counterfoils: Necessary when moving goods from the port-of-entry customs to another inland customs office within China.
- Electronic Data Registration: A Requirement by Chinese Customs on the ATA Carnet:
 - Freight shipments – It is the responsibility of the customs broker or freight forwarder in China to complete the data registration process with CCPIT/CCOIC (the Chinese National Guaranteeing Association) prior to customs clearance of the goods. Your local representatives may visit www.atachina.org (website in Chinese) for more details.
 - Hand carried merchandise – Chinese customs will stamp the ATA Carnet; however, the Holder must visit CCPIT/CCOIC to complete the data registration within three working days. Ask Customs at the port of entry where the closest CCPIT/CCOIC office is.
- Extension Beyond “Final Date of Re-exportation” (See Item 2 of Importation Counterfoil):
 - Chinese customs typically restrict ATA Carnet entries to six months.
 - Extension requests beyond six months must be submitted to Chinese customs at least 30 days prior to the “Final Date of Re-exportation” stamped on the Importation counterfoil.
 - Penalties may apply if this provision is not followed, for example if extension request is submitted fewer than 30 days from the “Final Date of Re-exportation”
- Vehicles Subject to Import Licenses:
 - Vehicles entering China for an exhibition or fair must be re-exported immediately, or obtain an import license issued by the Ministry of Commerce in China.
 - Used vehicles or right-rudder vehicles need to obtain approval before entry into China.

Germany (DE)

German customs typically grants the validity period of a Carnet for live animals based upon the duration of a health certificate. For example, if the duration of the health certificate is three months, German customs will restrict the entry of the animals to three months. If you are importing animals into Germany, verify the "final date" in section #2 of the white importation counterfoil to determine the date by which the goods on the Carnet must be re-exported.

Korean customs typically restricts the entry of goods to six months. If you are importing goods into Korea on a Carnet, you should verify the "Final date for re-exportation/productions to the Customs of goods" found in box 2 of the importation counterfoil. This is the date by which the goods must be re-exported. If more time is needed, the Carnet holder should make a request to Korean customs prior to that date. For more information about Korea, contact your Carnet Service Representative.

Mexico (MX)

Mexican Customs authorities will restrict entry of all carnet entries to a maximum of six months. This period can be extended for a further six months, provided the request for such an extension is made before the expiry of the first six month period. We have been advised that Mexican Customs will require a translation of the General List into Spanish.

To help combat counterfeit carnets, it will be necessary to register all carnets before entry into Mexico. To seek such approval, holders (or their representative) must complete a registration form, which presently resides at Canaco's website (ATA System Registration). Holders will receive by return email approval (or denial) of the registration. Approvals will be entered in to MX Customs database. Such approval may take 2-3 days, so please have your holders plan accordingly.

Singapore (SG)

Singapore customs maintains very strict controls in imports and exports and regularly restricts the validity period of all Carnets to six months. If you are importing goods into Singapore on a Carnet, you should verify the “Final date for re-exportation/productions to the Customs of goods” found in box 2 of the importation counterfoil. This is the date by which the goods must be re-exported. If more time is needed, the Carnet holder should make a request for an extension to Singapore customs prior to that date at:

Temporary Import Unit, Documentation Branch
Revenue House, 55 Hewton Road #10-01
Singapore 309987
